

SATURDAY, MAY 9, 1903.

Entered at the Postoffice at Accomack C. H., Va., as second-class matter.

Ex-President Grover Cleveland was the central figure among the thousands at the dedicatory exercises of the St. Louis Exposition last week and received an ovation which surpassed the one extended to President Roosevelt. This greatly pleased Uncle Grover and he had the right to be pleased and grateful too at this unexpected demonstration in his honor. It was a graceful act on the part of the Democrats, and of the Republicans too who participated in the ovation, thus to honor for the time a former Chief Magistrate of the nation. That he did not accept it though in the spirit in which it was given but as a boom for another term of the Presidency, as indicated by his willingness in an interview since to be again the leader of his party, makes one feel that the old man is almost in his dotage. The precedent established by Washington and which Grant in the noonday of his popularity could not destroy of course forbids it, and Grover should not have allowed his head to be turned by the yells the boys gave him. He ought to know that the next National Democratic Convention cannot do a thing as idiotic as to select a man as its standard bearer whose thousands of democrats in many States of the Union, because of his record as a "party wrecker," would not support. No, Mr. Cleveland, including Bryan, Hill and others are not "in it" in the next Presidential race. The Democratic party will go into the next fight, it is stated, for success and they, if true patriots, should realize the situation and hasten to step down and off the lofty pedestals on which they have been so long posing.

The Legislature of Virginia has, during the present session, appropriated a sum of money to place the statue of General R. E. Lee in the Statuary Hall at Washington. This has been done, not because it is necessary to perpetuate the memory of Lee, but for the reason that each State has the right and is expected to place the statues of two of her greatest men in the Hall, and Virginia now has only one, that of George Washington. The memory of Lee, of course, cannot be honored by placing his statue there, but it will be an honor to the United States, and law makers and law interpreters will do better and be better in having the statue of the great man of the Nation's Capitol. That this is the correct view of the case many will accept but some do not and the latest in the list of "howling idiots" who do object are the members of the Grand Army of the Republic of the department of West Virginia. In their opinion, according to a resolution passed by them at their recent annual encampment, "The Statuary Hall should not only be kept free from R. E. Lee's statue, but forever free from anything that will encourage disloyalty or would emulate treason or rebellion." Such resolution, of course, does not detract from the fame of Lee and should not prevent us from occupying with his statue the place at the Capitol to which we are entitled, but while such words exist the statement is not and cannot be the truth as has been of ten claimed, that we have a "reunited country."

Lee a traitor and denounced as such by West Virginia G. A. R. Camp? Poor imbeciles! It perhaps has never occurred to them, what fools they have made of themselves, and that when all such have passed into the great beyond and their names and deeds completely obliterated that high above on the honor roll of imperishable fame will shine out the name of that great hero, Robert E. Lee.

The case of Judge Campbell is now being heard by the Senate and it will not concur, it is believed, in the action of the House. The indications are that the McIlwaine report providing for a joint commission to reopen the case will be adopted, and in that event, the case will not be up again until November and then a fight will be made to allow him to serve out his term, of about two months more, which will result favorably to Campbell. It is folly to burden the State with further expense in the matter if a decision cannot be reached before the Legislature adjourns.

The idea of building a memorial arch to Jefferson Davis in Richmond, it is stated, is abandoned and another form of memorial agreed upon at the coming reunion of Confederate veterans in New Orleans. The change will be made in deference to the wishes of Mrs. Davis, who objects to a memorial in the shape of an arch, on the ground that this form is erected to victors and not to those who are vanquished.

The Senate on Wednesday passed the bill to provide for the special assessment of the mineral lands of the State. It will increase the revenues of the State, it is believed, $75,000 or more.

Candidate Card.
To the Voters of Accomack County:
The new Constitution of the State of Virginia, adopted by the Convention of 1901-2, with the Schedule thereto annexed, provides that on the first day of February, A. D. 1904, the present judicial system of County Courts in said State shall cease, and the judicial system of Circuit Courts created by said Constitution shall go into operation; and further provides that in the County of Accomack, there shall be elected on Tuesday after the first Monday in November, A. D. 1903, with other County Officers, one "County Clerk, who shall be Clerk of the Circuit Court," for which office I hereby announce myself a candidate at said November election, subject to nomination by the Electors at the Primary Election to select candidates for County offices.
Truly thankful to my fellow citizens for their support in the past, I shall endeavor to discharge the duties of the office faithfully, promptly, efficiently and obligingly, in the event of my election to said office, it is my purpose, on entering upon the duties thereof, to request the Court to appoint Mr. Robert H. Oldham and Mr. John H. Wise, Deputy Clerks.
Very respectfully,
John D. Grant.

Public Auction

—OF VALUABLE—

Real Estate

Known as "Jolly's Neck Farm," belonging to the heirs of Cornelius J. Taylor, deceased, and situated near Jenkins Bridge, Accomack County, Virginia.

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for the said county of Accomack, entered on the 16th day of April, A. D. 1903, in a certain chancery cause in said court depending between Robert J. Taylor & guardian, plaintiff, and Robert J. Taylor and others, defendants, the undersigned special commissioner will sell to the highest bidder, at public auction, and free and discharged of any claim of dower, on Wednesday, June 3d, A. D. 1903, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., in front of the storehouse of Samuel B. White, at said Jenkins Bridge, in the county and State aforesaid, the following described tracts, pieces or parcels of land, being the subdivisions of the said "Jolly's Neck Farm" made by Frank Fletcher and others, commissioners appointed by the said court to subdivide the said farm for the purpose of sale, as shown by the report of the said commissioners filed in the said cause on the 16th day of April, 1903, and confirmed by the said court, to-wit: A. D. 1903, being that portion of "Jolly's Neck" Farm proper, containing by actual survey two hundred and one and 15/100 acres (201.15 A.) of arable land of which fifty four and 90/100 A. is woodland, and all the marsh belonging to the said farm except that included in Lot C, hereinafter described, and bounded as follows: On the west, by Pocomoke River; on the north and east, by the line of William T. Fletcher; on the south, by Holden's Creek; on the east and south-east by the line which runs as follows: beginning at a chestnut stub on the line separating the said farm from the land of the said William T. Fletcher; thence north 78° west 5 5/8 chains to a stake, thence running southwardly to the center of a ditch, thence continuing in the same course, with the center of the ditch as the line, to the center of the same course to a hole, and thence continuing on in the same course to the said Holden's Creek; together with the outlet or right-of-way thirty feet (30 ft.) wide over said Lots B and C, on the county road as hereinafter shown. On said Lot A is the main dwelling of the said "Jolly's Neck" farm, with extensive outbuildings suitable for a large tract of land.

Lot B, being that portion of the said farm proper containing by actual survey one hundred and twenty three and 10/100 acres of arable land of which 35.70 acres are woodland, and bounded on the north-east by the land of the said William T. Fletcher; on the east and south-east, by the land of James H. Fletcher; on the south-west by said Lot C, from which it is separated by a line beginning on the east-side of the said A. at the bridge, and thence running along the present outlet or right-of-way to the line of the said James H. Fletcher, but subject to the outlet or right-of-way hereinafter described. On the said Lot B is a dwelling with outbuildings.

Lot C, being that portion of the said farm containing by actual survey one hundred and eleven and 50/100 acres (111.50 A.) of arable land of which 45.10 acres are woodland, and together with all the marsh on the east of said Lot A, and bounded on the north-east by said Lot B, from which it is separated as above set forth; on the South-east, by the land of the said James H. Fletcher, Jr.; on the South-west, by the land of the said Holden's Creek; and on the north-west, by the east or south-east line of said Lot A, from the said bridge to the outlet or right-of-way hereinafter described. On the said Lot C is a dwelling with outbuildings.

Lot D, being a portion of the larger tract of woodland separated from the said farm but belonging thereto, containing by actual survey thirty one acre and 30/100 A., and bounded on the north-east by the land of Mrs. L. M. Sneed; on the south-east by the land of the said Asa J. Taylor; but subject to a right-of-way hereinafter described, out to public road.

Lot E, being another or middle portion of the aforesaid larger tract of woodland containing by actual survey forty and one-half acres (40 1/2 A.), and bounded on the north-east by the land of the said Mrs. L. M. Sneed; on the south-east by the land of the said Asa J. Taylor; on the south-west, by the land of the said Asa J. Taylor; and on the north-west, by a part of the distance, by the south-east line of said Lot D, running north 15° east, and the balance of the distance by the line of the said Asa J. Taylor designated by the marked trees; but subject to a right-of-way hereinafter described, out to public road.

Lot F, being the balance of the said larger tract of woodland containing by actual survey thirty-eight and 80/100 acres (38.80 A.), and bounded on the north-east by the land of the said Mrs. L. M. Sneed; on the south-east, by the land of the said Asa J. Taylor; on the south-west, by the land of the said Asa J. Taylor; and on the north-west, by the said Lot E.

Lastly, all that certain smaller tract of woodland separated from the said "Jolly's Neck" farm, containing by estimation thirty acres (30 A.), more or less, and bounded as follows: on the north by the land of the said Asa J. Taylor; on the South, by the land of the said Asa J. Taylor; on the east, by the land of E. Florence Fletcher, and on the west, by the public road. On this last described tract are two small dwellings.

Said Lots B and C will be sold subject to an outlet or right-of-way thirty feet wide (30 ft.) for the benefit of Lot A, in common with said Lots B and C, beginning at the said bridge on the east-side of the said Lot A, and running south 80° east to the public road, one-half of said outlet or right-of-way being on said Lot B, and the other half on said Lot C.

Said Lots D and E will be sold subject to an outlet or right-of-way twenty feet (20 ft.) wide, for the benefit of said Lot F, beginning at the said bridge on the east-side of the said Lot A, and running south 80° east to the public road, one-half of said outlet or right-of-way being on said Lot D, and the other half on said Lot E.

Stewart K. Powell, Special Commissioner.

fit of said Lots E and F, beginning at the north-west corner of said Lot F, and running north 85° west along the north-east side of said Lot E, and D, out to the county road leading to Bullbsgar.

Terms of Sale.

Fifteen (15%) per centum of the purchase money will be required in cash on the day of sale, with the privilege to the purchaser to pay as much more thereof in cash on that day as he may elect, and the balance of the purchase money not paid in cash on the day of sale will be divided into three equal installments for which the purchaser will be required to execute his three several bonds made payable to and with personal security thereto to be approved by the undersigned special commissioner, or falling due in six, twelve and eighteen months, respectively, from the day of sale, and carrying interest at the legal rate from the date thereof until paid; the title to the said premises to be retained as additional security, until the payment of the whole of the purchase money, but should the purchaser pay as much as one-half of the purchase money in cash on the day of sale, no personal security will be required of him; possession of the premises will be delivered to the purchaser on the first day of January, 1904, but the premises to be at the risk of the purchaser from the time they are bid off by him; the rents and profits of the premises for the current year, nineteen hundred and three, to be reserved, and not to pass to the purchaser, and the taxes for the said current year assessed against the said premises to be paid by the present owners, and upon payment in full of the purchase money, and confirmation of sale by the court, the purchaser to receive a deed for the premises by him purchased, with special warranty of title, upon said deed, properly prepared at the expense of the purchaser, being tendered to the undersigned for execution. Given under my hand this 6th day of May, A. D. 1903.

Stewart K. Powell, Special Commissioner.

The above named special commissioner has, before me in the clerk's office of the circuit court for the county of Accomack, State of the County of Accomack, May, A. D. 1903, executed the bond required of him by the decree referred to in the foregoing notice, with surety deemed sufficient.

Of Valuable

Seaside Farm

The John W. Turlington farm near Modestown, Va., will be sold at Public Auction on Tuesday, May 26, 1903, at 3 o'clock p. m., at Bloxom, Va.

Said farm has been divided and will be sold in two parts, with right reserved to then offer as a whole and sold whichever way it brings the most.

The division line extends across the farm on a line with the home place.

The back farm bordering on creek contains about 133 22/100 acres, including about 33 acres good timbered land and about 20 acres good pasture land, the balance cleared land. It has good water front, splendidly adapted for growing oysters, clams, etc. This farm has two settlements and has a 20 foot road leading from main home place to county road.

Home place farm extends from the front farm to county road and contains about 83 74/100 acres, about 45 to 50 acres cleared land and the balance in heavy timbered land. This farm has one settlement and has good upland pasture.

Buildings on both farms are ample in size and in fair condition.

Terms of Sale.

One-fourth of purchase money to be paid in cash on day of sale, the balance in one, two or three years or all cash at option of purchaser. Deferred payments to bear interest, and be secured by mortgage on property. Rents for 1903 to be reserved and taxes for 1903 to be paid by present owners. Possession given January 1st, 1904. Property at purchasers risk from day of sale. For further particulars apply to:
